

Congratulations!

The Inter-American Foundation congratulates LASA on its fifty years of solid achievement in building deeper understanding of the complex realities of Latin America and the Caribbean. We are proud to have been a LASA partner for decades and look forward to sustained collaboration as LASA enters its second half-century.

We are particularly proud of the large and diverse participation of other IAF partners and graduate fellows in the thinking and working of LASA and of so many of its associated institutions. Since 1974, the Inter-American Foundation has sponsored over 1,000 fellows in graduate and post-graduate programs (<http://www.iaf.gov/our-work/fellowships>), and we are always pleased to reunite with so many of these alumni at each LASA congress.

Congratulations LASA!

The Cuban Five talk about their lives within the US working class

"IT'S THE POOR WHO FACE THE SAVAGERY OF THE US 'JUSTICE' SYSTEM"

Gerardo Hernández, Antonio Guerrero, Fernando González, Ramón Labañino, René González

"They chose five distant points for us to serve our unjust sentences. . . . But nothing could stop the Five from marching together with our people and our supporters the world over in the long battle for freedom."

—Antonio Guerrero

Five Cuban revolutionaries, framed up by the US government in 1998, spent up to 16 years as part of the US working class behind bars. Each reached out to fellow prisoners with respect, solidarity, and through their own example—and won respect and support in return.

With understanding, objectivity and humor, in this 2015 interview they talk about US capitalist society and its "justice" system. And about the future of the Cuban Revolution. Also in Spanish. US$15

A Marxist Interpretation

Abram Leon

A leader of the communist workers movement in Belgium, killed in Hitler's concentration camps, traces the historical roots of anti-Semitism and why the propertied rulers incite Jew-hatred at times of capitalist crisis. "As if his exemplary life wasn't enough, with The Jewish Question Abram Leon left us a piece of work that is an honor to his intellect and honesty. I can't emphasize how much I learned and enjoyed reading it."

Study Abroad in Buenos Aires and get a Certificate!

By spending a semester in Argentina, your students will not only enhance their CV, but continue to grow as global citizens. We have semester, summer and intensive language courses all year round. Students will receive transfer credit for Lower and Upper Division Courses while experiencing a challenging and transformative time in Buenos Aires.

As from 2017, we have a Certificate in Latin American Studies in four different tracks: Business & Economy, Cultural Studies, Linguistics and Latin American Studies. Students must complete five courses, and conduct a directed research.

Specifically designed for undergraduate students, our semester programs are held twice a year, beginning in early March and in late July. We also have elective courses in the summer and a new Medical Spanish Immersion Program that combines a clinical rotation at the British Hospital with a course for medical professionals. Courses are taught by our faculty in both Spanish (PEAL) and English (PALAS), and are transferable to the US and European credit systems.

Founded in 1964 by Doctor Avelino Porto, Universidad de Belgrano was among the first universities in Argentina to promote study abroad and international exchange programs. Only 30 minutes by bus or subway from downtown Buenos Aires, the university's 19-storey building -the UB Tower designed by Architect Mario Roberto Álvarez - in a safe urban neighborhood surrounded by parks and residential homes.

LATIN AMERICAN PERSPECTIVES

The Resurgence of Collective Memory, Truth, and Justice Mobilizations in Latin America

Dualities of Latin America

Environmental Violence in Mexico

Latin American Perspectives is a theoretical and scholarly journal for discussion and debate on capitalism, imperialism, and socialism that offers a vital multidisciplinary view of the powerful forces impacting the lives of people across the Americas. Most issues focus on a single problem, nation, or region, providing an in-depth analysis from scholars and participants in social change.

"For more than 40 years, Latin American Perspectives has been a window open to critical thinking and interdisciplinary dialogues on Latin America. No other English language journal has succeeded in incorporating so many Latin American intellectuals as authors and editors. Its bi-monthly publication has been fundamental in maintaining academic and political dialogues between the North and the South of the Americas."

— Rosalva Aida Hernández Castillo, CIESAS, Mexico City

COLUMBIA | INSTITUTE OF LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

Created in 1962, the Institute of Latin American Studies (ILAS) is the center for research, teaching, and discussion on Latin America at Columbia University. ILAS serves as a portal for scholars and institutions, inside and outside Columbia, to identify and establish productive exchanges with the different academic units of the University. ILAS brings together and provides resources for Columbia faculty, students and scholars, recognizing the diversity of their interests and approaches while strengthening their links with Latin America and with communities of Latin American origin in the United States. Named by the Department of Education as a National Resource Center for Latin American Studies, ILAS is part of the New York City Consortium on Latin America along with the Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies at New York University (CLACS). The Institute is housed in the International Affairs Building and is part of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Professor Jose Moya (Barnard History Department) has been the director of the Institute since 2013. States.

ILAS highlights include

- Resources to support Latin American research and teaching at Columbia, and a venue for a variety of public events featuring distinguished speakers, research reports, seminars, conferences and lunchtime lecture series.
- Three centers: Lemann Center for Brazilian Studies, Center for Mexican Studies, and the Greater Caribbean Studies Center, each devoted to in-depth research and activities of their signature countries.
- The Cuba Program is aimed at increasing exchanges between Cuban and U.S. based scholars and other experts on topics of mutual interest. A key part of this program is the Columbia University-University of Havana Academic Exchange Program.
- The Institute also benefits from its unparalleled associations with the financial, diplomatic and corporate centers of New York City, and with other research universities in the area.
- With financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Education, Tinker Foundation, ILAS Advisory Board, the Lemann Foundation, and the Consejo Nacional para la Ciencia y la Tecnología (CONACYT) in Mexico, ILAS is able to award various fellowships and grants to faculty, graduate and undergraduate students, and researchers to further their research, and as such, enrich the academic community.

Visiting Scholar Opportunities and funding

- ILAS provides funded visiting professorships including The Edward Larocqu Tinker Visiting Professorship and the Ruth Cardoso Visiting Professorship.
- Co-sponsored by CONACYT and Columbia University, the Edmundo O’Gorman Scholars program is named in honor of one of Mexico’s preeminent historians. The program provides financing of short-term scholars and scientists working in Mexican institutions of higher education.

Opportunities for Students

- Columbia’s interdisciplinary M.A. program in Regional Studies—Latin America and the Caribbean (MARSLAC) provides a broad social science-based approach to modern and contemporary Latin America and the Caribbean. MARSLAC students deepen their knowledge of the political, economic, social and cultural processes shaping the region, and graduate with the expertise to be leaders in their chosen fields. The Program uniquely combines a highly interdisciplinary core curriculum, with ample flexibility to allow students to develop a custom-tailored program of study. ILAS offers ample opportunities for financial support through fellowships, assistantships and other resources.
- ILAS coordinates the undergraduate major in Latin American Studies and a certificate in Latin American Studies to M.A. and Ph.D. students.

DOCTORAL PROGRAM IN LATIN AMERICAN & LATINO STUDIES

LALS

The Ph.D. program in Latin American and Latino Studies at UCSC offers an innovative, transnational, and interdisciplinary approach to the study of the peoples, cultures, societies, and institutions of the Américas.

CLRC

Founded in 1992, the Chicano Latino Research Center at the University of California, Santa Cruz, supports scholarship in the areas of Chicano, Latino, Latin American, and migration studies.

STUDY & DESIGN YOUR PROJECTS AROUND OUR FOUR THEMES:

Transnationalisms, Migration, & Displacement Courses in this area illuminate the dynamic social cartographies of the Américas by focusing on cross-border demographic, cultural, social, economic, and political flows linking Latin American and Latina/o communities.

Intersectionality, Identities, & Inequalities This theme highlights the interconnected dimensions of identity categories, such as race, ethnicity, nationality, socioeconomic status, gender, sexuality, ability, and age, and the social structures that rely on and reproduce those categories and inequalities.

Collective Action, Social Movements, & Social Change Courses explore how communities come together to influence political, cultural, economic, and social structures and institutions, with a focus on grassroots activism, political/civic engagement, and social change projects at local, national, regional, and inter- and transnational levels.

Culture, Power, & Knowledge This theme emphasizes the analysis of contested symbols, meanings, aesthetics, and representations; interrogates relations of power, definitions of culture, markers of difference, and the construction of knowledge claims; and connects theoretical approaches to broader social, political, historical, and contemporary transformations.

The Politics of Che Guevara is a portrait focused on Guevara's thought and practical political record, aimed at dispelling many of the myths about the revolutionary leader. Samuel Farber, a Cuban student activist in 1950s and a scholar of the revolution, examines Guevara's views on socialism, democracy, and revolution and asks what lessons can be learned by today's activists and social movements. It will also analyze Guevara's conduct as guerrilla commander and government administrator in Cuba, his political perspectives on revolutionary agency and his attempts to implement them in Cuba, Africa and Bolivia, as well as Guevara's economic views.

"Across the world, Che Guevara is either branded a demon or idealized as a saint. Sam Farber chooses neither route, offering a complex and serious analysis of Guevara—a passionate and honest radical who could unfortunately never embrace socialism in its most democratic essence."

—Bhaskar Sunkara, editor of Jacobin

"Although he will always be revered for his heroic internationalism, Che's ideas diverged sharply from classical Marxist conceptions of self-emancipation and workers' democracy. Therein, as Farber shows so brilliantly, is the real tragedy of Third World revolution."

—Mike Davis, Professor Emeritus, University of California, Riverside, and author of Planet of Slums

Teaching the Latin American Boom

Edited by LUCILLE KERR and ALEJANDRO HERRERO-OLAIZOLA

"The attention to the framing of the Boom makes this volume more than just a study of the Boom; it stretches to cover a great deal of territory, literarily speaking, of twentieth- and twenty-first-century literature. This is a very important addition to the series."

—Gwen Kirkpatrick, Georgetown University

This volume provides a wide range of options for teaching the complexities of the Boom, and provides resources for selecting materials for courses.
