

Special Collections Research Grants

Awards of $4000 are available to support travel and/or research expenses while utilizing the Eberly Family Special Collections Library at Penn State's University Park campus. Awards are available for a variety of subject-based research, as listed below.

We invite applications from non-traditional researchers, students, and others for whom the financial costs of research-based travel pose a significant obstacle. These funds will be paid out in two installments: recipients receive $3000 to support their research, and a second installment of $1000 after the presentation of their research talks.
